Kick Off...

1993-94

The school year is kicked off by a soccer player.

(photograph by Bart Brinson)

It was a year filled with many new experiences at Mount Olive College. New professors greeted the students, new coaches lead the teams on the field and on the court, new classes were offered and a new major was available. The best things that we will remember from the 1993-94 school year were the twenty new Macintosh's and the Lois K. Murphy Regional Center which serves as the new Dining Hall and new Student Center. With all of the changes, we constantly found ourselves doing a "Double Take" to see if what we saw was really what we saw. Not only did we focus on the constant change on our campus, but also spotlighted people and perspectives from around the world that hit the news.

The British Royal family had a devastating year as two marriages crumbled and a fire destroyed Windsor Castle. An explosion in the garage of the World Trade Center in New York killed several while a Religious Cult in Waco, Texas ended in tragedy after several weeks of confrontation. Hurricane Andrew, the most destructive hurricane in U.S. history, struck Homestead, Florida. On a more positive note, Bill Clinton became the 42nd President of the United States. Sister Act and A League of Their Own became hit movies. Country sensation Billy Ray Cyrus' debut "Achy Breaky Heart" started country line dancing around the nation. The U.S. Postal Service paid tribute to Elvis Presley, the King of Rock and Roll, as he was immortalized on a postage stamp. In sports, the Toronto Bluejays defeated the Atlanta Braves to win the World Series, the Dallas Cowboys were named the Superbowl Champs and the Carolina Tarheels captured the NCAA Basketball Championship.

Jerry Riggs trains for the forthcoming nine months in the classroom and on the field.

SGA STUFF

Joseph Hampton and Abby Artis take a moment out of their busy schedule at the SGA leadership retreat to smile for the camera

It's a Leadership Thang!!!!

On August 24, the freshmen class was welcomed by the Resident Life Staff and the Student Assistants. The R/A's arrived earlier during the week to prepare their halls for the new year. The job of an R/A is to promote a good atmosphere, as well as to act as a peace maker among the dorms and apartments. The Resident Assistants were Janet Corbett, Melanie Swinson, Jenny Nix, John Robert Harris, Jason Modlin, Gus Guzman, Jean Titus, Sam O'neal, Ricky Godwin, and Danielle Vann. After a long day of unpacking and moving the freshmen into their "new homes" the SA's gladly entertained the new students by presenting them with a humorous skit entitled "If I Were Not a Freshman".

The Student Assistants were Andi Bartron, Wendy Brown, Allen Carter, Robbie Cooke, Andy Garriss, Joseph Hampton, Dawn Jackson, Tracy McCoy, Tracy Osborn, Robert Stroud, Andy Thompson, and Beverly Thorton. They all deserve a round of applause and a pat on the back!

Maxwell V House

Maxwell House 5 was held at Eagle's Nest and again proved to be a tremendous success. Some of the favorite acts this year included: "Rappin' with Julie" and "Mr. Subliminal"...not to mention a special appearance by Dr. Raper, uh, we mean, Cecil Cahoon! Maxwell House is a talent showcase that gives the students a chance to show off what they've got. It is sponsored by the English Society and is always an evening of entertainment. You don't have to be a member of the English Society to display your talent, just willing and eager to get on the stage and show off a little bit. A lot of old students get involved in the show too. Maxwell House this year, like the years in the past, was "Good to the Last Drop!"

Beloved Instructor, Anthony Hatcher, does what he does best (or second best to teaching)... Video tapes the show!

Emcee for the evening was Jeffery Celeste. He had everyone in tears with his corny jokes by the end of the night.

Melissa Woodall and Tracy McCoy discuss what makes their coffee "Good to the Last Drop!"

Janet Corbett and Tracy McCoy tie one on as a reminder to the students that Alcohol Awareness Week has begun. The Student Government Association had a whole night committed to tying red ribbons on the trees along the walkways around various parts of campus. The campus looked very festive.

Rescue workers work diligently at the scene of an accident held near the softball field. It was very interesting to watch as they performed a pretend call. It gave the students a feel for what it's like to be in the heart of an accident.

ALCOHOL AWARENESS

The week of October 13th through the 17th the Student Government Association sponsored an Alcohol Awareness Week. Some of the events that took place this week included a road block, in which several class officers stopped traffic at either entrance of campus; red ribbon day; black ribbon day; flyer day; and a memorial service for the class officers, who played dead one day. On this day they were not allowed to speak to anyone. A wrecked car with a sign that read "A Friend Let A Friend Drive Drunk" sat outside the student center.

A Friend Let A Friend Drive Drunk was the main theme of the week. This wrecked car sat outside the Student Center for the entire week.

The Rescue Workers at the scene of the pretend accident near the softball field.

Many students attended an E3 event held one evening in which two keynote speakers from the Wayne County Mental Health Department and the Mount Olive Police Department spoke about the importance of remaining alcohol free.

Halloween celebration was enjoyed by all that attended the trick-or-treat expedition in the girl's dorm or the Halloween Dance held at Eagle's Nest. The children of the college's faculty and staff were invited to go door to door and receive candy from the residents living in the Women's Dorm Complex. All the children, needless to say, left with a full bucket of candy and treats.

The Halloween Ball was also a great success. The theme of the evening was "The Phantom of the Opera." Members of the SGA helped decorate all afternoon and gave Eagle's Nest a scary glow. There was a costume contest and students dressed up in everything from a baked potato (Cynthia Mallard), the Phantom, to more than enough transvestites. Clint Black a.k.a. Drew Edwards even showed up for the festivities. The evening needless to say was a very interesting and eventful one.

Drew Edwards, Michael Skinner, Gary Lee, Kelly Coward, and Cynthia Mallard, wait for the judges results in the costume contest.

One of the favorites of the evening was eating all the goodies at the snack table. Of course, some decided to take the snack table to them. Here Joseph Hampton, Kevin Schoden, Mark Knudsen, and Jason Modlin socialize and tear up the ol' cheese ball - cracker tray..

The women's dorm fell in love with these two precious cows. Dustin Buchanan and Brittani Ellis, Julie Beck's nephew and niece, were truly "Utterly Adorable."

The evening was completed with a costume contest. Here, Thomas Johnson (back turned), Mike Roed, Chris Workman, Russell Stephens, and Doreen Simmons put their best foot forward as each participates in the contest. Needless to say Russell "Ms. Thang, Heeeyyyy, I got you," won.

Brenda Cate's daughter, Samantha gives us something to laugh about.

Roll out the Red Carpet, Here comes the "Pickle Classic " Queen! Velvet Reynolds

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds are very proud of their daughter and all of her many accomplishments.

One, Two, Three...

Where could SGA be?

Wendy Brown, Miss Mount Olive College 1992 stated, "My fondest memory of being Miss MOC was the Mount Olive Christmas Parade. I never laughed so hard and had so much fun. Every block of the parade route brought new adventures and laughter." Talk about being flexible. The Homecoming Court's float was blown apart by the wind and they had to be placed on another float. Then, the car that Wendy was riding in had a flat tire. The SGA Executive Cabinet gave up their car for her and climbed into the MOC Campus Security golf cart. They quickly threw on tinsel and donned santa hats and viola, they had a float. During the parade, the golf cart died and had to be left on the side of the street. Move over, Wendy. Six individuals, including Sports Information Director, Chris Kennedy, now held the title of Miss Mount Olive College. Just as the parade was ending, the car cut off. Somehow, someway, we managed to finish the parade route and laughed off ten pounds as well.

opposite page: Tim McKoy says, "Be still my beating heart, as I look upon all these beautiful ladies on the dance floor."

Julie Beck and Melissa Woodall cut up before the dance starts.

Amanda Parrish, Laura Peedin, and Tobie Warrick find something humorous about the punch.

Santa Claus is Coming to Town

SGA sponsored a semi-formal along with a Christmas Dinner in December. The dance was held at Southern Wayne Country Club and proved to be a very beautiful evening. Everyone had a ball and if they really wanted, could have their picture made sitting on Santa's lap! At the dance Santa was played by Chris Kennedy. As for the Christmas dinner, Santa made a second appearance there too. This time Santa was played by Todd Weeks!

Brittany Holmes tells Santa Claus a.k.a. Todd Weeks exactly what she wants for Christmas... EVERYTHING!

Celebrate • • • • • • Goodtimes!

The SGA sponsored a New Year's Dance on January 7th at the student center. Due to the fact that everyone was away from one another over Christmas break, this dance helped serve as a welcome back party. Noise makers, balloons, and party hats were all provided.

On January 26th, SGA held another event, the first annual Skating Party at Galaxy of Sports in Kinston. Cynthia Mallard and Doreen Simmons were the "hit" of the evening when they decided to see who could knock the most people down. This was very exciting for all the students since the majority of them had not been skating in YEARS. Students participated in all kinds of contests. Everything was offered, from Hot Potato, Four Circles, and finally, last but not least, the Hokey-Pokey Dance...

Tracy Bass and Sherry Cannon lace up their skates, with hopes that they won't bust on the floor in front of everyone at the rink.

Shirley Woodard and Gus Guzman get swept away in the music

Lisa Dawson and Jill Watkins have their own style of fun. They must think it's the olympics free form skating catagory...What form and grace!

Candida Gurganus and Jenny Goude say they're all set and ready to go...Should we be scared or what?

Kris Harrison, Jill Watkins, and Phil Carden decide to take a break from dancing for a few minutes.

CUPID ALERT

Wild hearts were on fire, on January 10th, at the Sweethearts Dance held at the National Guard Armory in Mount Olive. With lots of goodies to eat and plenty of styles of music to dance to, it was guaranteed that everyone could have a good time if they attended. The best part of the evening was that the dateless had just as much fun as the couples. The SGA officers decorated all day and cleaned up all night, but it was worth all the trouble. A photographer was available for all those who dared to capture their memories on film.

"Some Enchanted Evening"

The Tenth Anniversary Miss Mount Olive College Pageant was held on March 27th. Miss Mount Olive College 1992, Wendy Brown, a senior from Durham relinquished her title in a South Pacific setting. The pageant also marked the end of director, Joyce Andrew's tenure. Jenny Nix, a junior from Kinston was named the new Miss Mount Olive 1993. Miss Nix also won the category of talent and the congeniality award, which is voted on by the contestants. As her talent, Miss Nix sang "On My Own" from Les Miserables, one of her favorite musicals. Candida Gurganus, a junior from Sneads Ferry, was named first runner-up. Other participants in the pageant include: Robbie Cooke, Leslie Gray, and Kimberly Lelonek.

Leslie Gray, contestant 4 makes her way across stage to dazzle the judges and the audience in the sportswear category.

First runner-up, Candida Gurganus sings her heart out to Elvis's "Break It To Me Gently."

A Moo-velous Day!

Mount Olive College's SGA and the Recreation Major's Club combined together to make the best ever Moo's Day Festival and Cookout. From the dunking booth to the pie eating contest the festival was an absolute success. In the past each club went on their own to have a festival but this year was different. Other events included Earth Ball, a Slip-n-Slide, and Tug-o-War. No one expected such a great turn out but a great turn out they had! There's already talk of these two collaborating again for future events. Moo's Day 1993 was a wonderful success and many students can't wait until next year. I wonder who will be in the dunking booth line-up... Patti O'Donoghue????? You better start saving your change up, because it's guaranteed that who ever it will be, they will be good!!!!

A Sprinkle of Starlight, A Pinch of Music, and a Dash of Glitter

A perfectly followed recipe for a night of enchantment created an unforgettable evening for all that attended the Spring Formal. April 20 was the date and the Officer's Club was the place. The band was North Tower--a skyscraping success. The floor was on fire as students and faculty danced to music from all corners. The crowd was split by food galore that was catered by the base staff.

Line dancing was a favorite pasttime - be it country, beach, or pop. And even some religion professors got in a little hop (See photo).

Regional Center is Open for Business!

The Lois K. Murphy Regional Center opened its doors to students and the community this past spring. The building houses the new cafeteria and student center. An after-hour grill and a game room are also among the building's many features.

Administration suggests that it is a facility unmatched between Mount Olive and the Atlantic Ocean.

The cafeteria offers a variety of meal choices daily and a Sunday dinner buffet.

Kris Jones, SGA President said that "the new building will be a wonderful addition to the campus and will make the campus a more attractive and complete place to call home."

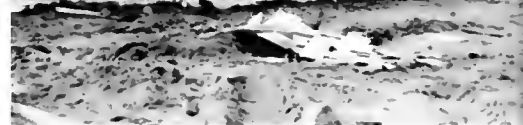

Dr. Raper poses with Lois K. Murphy and her son, Wendell Murphy.

MOC BOARD OF TRUSTEES

This year, Mount Olive College lost a great friend as well as a member of the Board of Trustees when Mr. Luke Wetherington passed away. Pictured are Mr. and Mrs. Wetherington.

The Mount Olive College Board of Trustees of the year 1992-93. The Board of Trustees serves as the executive officers of the College. This group of men and women are responsible for setting forth the governing principles that guide our College, according to its mission. They serve the College on a volunteer basis, and meet several times throughout the year. We appreciate their commitment to Mount Olive College.

Excellence Abounds!

Recognized for their academic achievements the students pictured were named to Who's Who or invited to join the national PSI CHI and/or ALPHA CHI societies. These students should be congratulated and commended on their academic excellence.

The graduates anxiously await for the Commencement Services to begin so they can get out of those hot gowns.

Worship Service

The thirty-ninth commencement of Mount Olive College was held on Sunday, May the second at Rodgers Chapel. Melissa Woodall, President of the Senior Class, read Psalm 146 as her final duty as a class officer. Dr. Michael Pelt, Chairman of the Department of Religion, gave the commencement sermon. Kristin Aycock Jones, President of the Student Government Association and a graduating senior herself, concluded the service with the benediction.

"We are moving with vigor and courage toward our quest for the best.... We have also made a bold commitment to become avowedly committed to the Christian faith, academic excellence, and moral values.... Success will not just happen, it must be made to happen. It will take wise planning, tremendous energy and people of noble spirit who are willing to invest their resources in young men and men who possess a vision and purpose in life....The challenge of education is to offer them substance, not substitutes...."

Look Mom, I Made It!

The largest Mount Olive College class graduated on May 8 with one hundred and sixty-five degrees conferred during the ceremonies. Nigle "Tex" Barrow, an alumni of MOC and an attorney with a Raleigh firm, spoke to the graduates. Barrow challenged them "to find that creativity-which is the imprint of the image of God-to know it, to use it and to express it in your life." He compared the skill of tackling a sailboat to navigating one's way through life experiences. "Sailing with the wind of life is obvious, easy, apparent. Our creative vision, however, empowers us to sail against the wind-to see beyond obstacles, to do what seems impossible, to become what seems beyond us. It guides us through adversity and empowers us to overcome failure and turn failure into success," Barrow said.

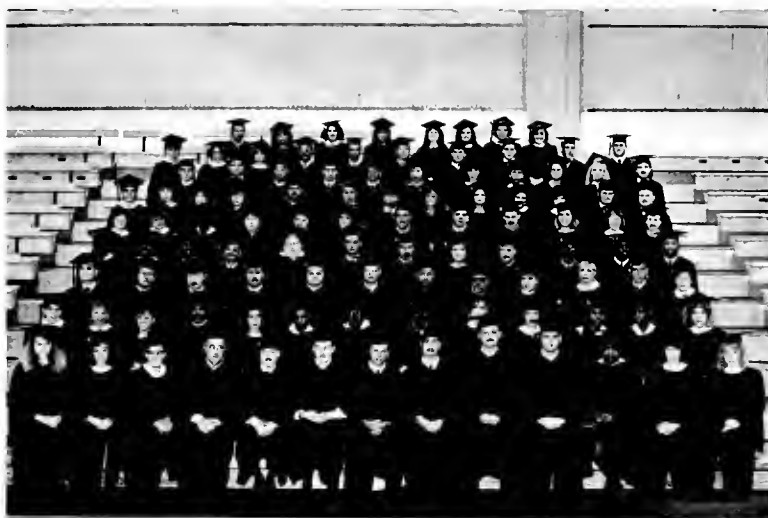

Also during the weekend, a Senior Reception, hosted by SGA, was held for the graduates. The Last Dinner of the ole' cafeteria was served. Eighty years of special memories were shared before the final meal was eaten in the old Mount Olive Elementary School building. Those attending the event revisited the building's life as they viewed photographs that were displayed throughout the building. A cornerstone of the building was extracted and will be displayed on the Mount Olive College Campus.

For the first time, an alumni luncheon was held in the Lois K. Murphy Regional Center where the annual academic and teaching awards were given. The Martin Award, was presented to Barbara Carlton, who graduated with the highest academic average. Michelle Shafer, a college marshal, was given the Perret Award. Shafer is a rising sophomore with the highest academic average. Professor of fine arts Larry Lean was presented the President's Award for Excellence in Teaching.

EXCELLENCE IN THE MAKING

Recognized for their outstanding academic achievement and for maintaining the highest GPA's in their classes the students pictured were named at Award's Day to serve as marshals for the 1992 - 1993 school year. The marshals serve the college at various events such as Convocation and Graduation.

Convocation is held at the beginning of the each semester. This year's Spring Convocation speaker was Penny Ziemer, who is a professor at Seymour Johnson Air Force Base. Mrs. Ziemer spoke about giving up your vocation and taking time to find out your goals. In the end, giving up your vocation helps one to find their true vocation.

The new Macintosh Lab opened in the fall of 1992 after several years of anticipation. The lab is equipped with nineteen Macintosh computers, three printers, and one scanner that can be used for everything from word processing to document design. The lab is available to all students during most hours of the day and on the weekends. The Visual Communications major is one of the primary users of the lab. There are a number of classes that are entirely based on the Macintosh Computers, such as Graphic Design and Desktop Publishing. Senior Joy Ramsey said, "The Mac Lab is a valuable asset to the College and the Visual Communication major."

AWARDING EXCELLENCE

Award's Day was held on April 27, 1993 in Rodgers Chapel. At this time recognition was awarded for outstanding student performance in academics and leadership. Awards were presented by Student Services for outstanding leadership and to the student who had overcome adversity in their pursuit of a degree. Each academic department awarded scholarships to their outstanding students. Seniors receiving Who's Who Honors were also recognized, while underclassmen who excelled were named College Marshals. Student Government Association Executive Officers for the 1993-94 year were inducted.

Also, this year Dean of Students, Al Warrick was recognized by the Student Government Association for his years of dedication and hard work.

EXPERIENCES OF BOSTON

This past fall Mount Olive College offered a new course called Study and Travel. The first area of study was Boston, Massachusetts and the surrounding towns. Some of the sites visited were: the Freedom trail, Salem, Massachusetts, Plymouth Plantation and the Mayflower II and Walden Pond, which is near the homesites of Emerson and Thoreau. Harvard and Yale Divinity universities were also visited. "The class was a valuable experience in my lifetime," says Tracy McCoy. "I enjoyed so many of us traveling together and the opportunity that it gave our class to see a part of the country beyond Eastern North Carolina."

A time of growing and learning was all combined in one week. Traveling through New York and staying at the YMCA of Boston helped to make the trip a week of adventure, also.

The 1992-1993 Student Government Association

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

It has been a busy year for the officers of the Student Government Association. There were activities sponsored that were sure to entice students to enjoy campus life. A variety of activities were sponsored for the students, with some very unexpected results.

Some of the activities included this year have been proven over the years to be successful, such as the Christmas Semi-formal, the Valentine Social, the Welcome Back Social, the Spring Formal, and the Miss MOC Pageant.

Some new events were also sponsored by the SGA this year that added to the excitement at Mount Olive College. A Bowling night was sponsored, followed by a Skating party. It did not take long for those who went to these two events to find out that not everyone can roll a bowling ball down an alleyway, or stand up on a pair of skates!

Another event that was sponsored by the SGA was the First Annual Mr. MOC Pageant. This event gave male students the opportunity to strut their stuff, just like the girls! The serious nature of the pageant was appreciated by participants and viewers alike.

Finally, SGA finished the year with two new and successful events. MOOS Days gave students the opportunity to act on the "Spring Fever" that all students seem to suffer from. Karaoke Night gave everyone the chance to be the star of the show and sing their hearts out.

SGA has provided numerous service projects, including cleaning up Eagles Nest and a new outdoor basketball court.

English and Visual Communications

In today's world, two areas that are becoming more popular are the English field and the visual communications field. Through the actions of the English Society and the Design & Communications clubs, students are being shown how much fun it is to participate in academic related activities as well as other activities!

The English Society had a great year. Maxwell House five and Maxwell House six were a great success. They also produced The Olive Branch, a literary magazine, and started producing The Free Thinker- a newspaper for Mount Olive College. The group has also sponsored trips to Raleigh to see two plays.

The Design & Communications Club kept busy as well. They went to Pelletier Creek during the Great Blizzard and practiced group survival without water or electricity. The only thing they had to survive on was the fellowship of each other.

Theology Clubs

Three clubs devoted their time in developing the religious life on this campus. These clubs are the Free Will Baptist Fellowship, Baptist Student Union, and the newly founded Theological Students Fellowship.

Free Will Baptist Fellowship has enjoyed a great time of fellowship. The group has gone to the Free Will Baptist Children's home for a cookout. They have also made several visits to the retirement home and enjoyed a Christmas party after going caroling. They also enjoyed a fall retreat to the coast at Vandemere.

Baptist Student Union has had a very successful year with their new advisor, Kay Fail. They have played cops and robbers with a local youth group. This group has also gone to the Children's Home of Kinston. Recently, they participated in a walk-a-thon for home missions.

Theological Students Fellowship was established during the spring semester. They sponsored an Easter service for the campus. The highlight for these clubs was a ski retreat to Cragmont over the Christmas holidays.

Phi Beta Lamda is a national organization for students who are interested in business or secretarial careers. The purpose of the organization is to develop competent business leadership, strengthen the confidence of the students themselves and their work, and to create more interest in business occupations. In addition to competing on a state level in accounting, marketing and economics, the members provide a variety of service projects for the campus and the community. A Hurricane Andrew Relief collection was made as well as the annual Wages Head Start Christmas Party and the Easter Egg hunt for the faculty/staff's children. The club is known around campus for their PBL line dance which they perform at state conferences, the end of the year picnic at Miss McCoy's house and anywhere else they can manage to shake their behind and get away with it.

Let's take a Poll

The Political Forum Club was reorganized this year under the direction of Ken Dilda. Due to the Presidential election being held in November, the Political Forum held a mock election on campus. Democrat Bill Clinton won. Was this a forecast of things to come? The club remained active even after the national election and kept abreast of the political scene.

Twenty years of Memories

The Mount Olive College Singers celebrated their twentieth anniversary this year. The Singers, under the direction of Mrs. Irene Patten, serve as a public relation outlet for the college. They perform in various cities and places all across North Carolina and beyond. This year, they sang in Walt Disney World and in Washington D.C.

The anniversary was a special time for everyone involved. It was a time for renewing old friendships and issuing some new ones as well. Alumni from the past twenty years were invited to come back and participate in the show. The audience was treated to music from the past twenty years. A special half-time entertainment was performed by Freddie Pierce and his ventriloquist doll, Richard.

The Singers presented Mrs. Dianne Riley a plaque for her service and dedication to the Singers and Mrs. Patten a photo collage for her commitment and service for her twenty years of leadership.

Recreation & Leisure with a Christian Twist

"Being a recreation major can be very rewarding," said junior Jennifer Coburn. The Recreation and Leisure Studies Club has had a very successful and active year. This year was host to the first annual MOOS Days that the Recreation and Leisure Studies Club co-sponsored. Recreation Club member, Leslie Gray said that the event was a fantastic success and it will definitely be considered as a future event for coming semesters.

MOOS Days gave participants the opportunity to enjoy the warm spring weather while having a good time and exercising.

MOOS Days events included: a dunking booth, a slip-n-slide, a pie-eating contest, and tug-of-war. There was also an earth ball and a three-legged race that students found to be a complete trip. Free pizza, cookies, and sodas kept students energized before the big cookout. At days end, participants went home, wet, dirty, and feeling good about themselves and spring.

Volleyball Team has Historic Year

Under the leadership of first year Head Coach Charlie Stevens, the Trojan Volleyball squad set a school record for wins finishing with a 17-12 overall record. Instrumental in guiding the team was senior Joy Ramsey and junior Candida Gurganus. "Joy and Candida were true leaders for us this season. When things were not going too well during a match, I looked to them to get us going." Coach Stevens also gave recognition to freshmen Windy Douglas and Angie House and junior Twana Jeeter for their hard work and excellent play. "Give all the credit to the girls for their hard work. They wanted to win and it showed." Finishing third in the conference with a 8-4 record and runner-up in the conference tournament, the team has high expectations for the conference title next year. "This was a relatively young team and with the recruits we have coming in, we look to improve to the next level of play," says Coach Stevens.

Soccer Team Builds Foundation

First year Head Coach Neil Roberts may not have had a successful season but he had a promising one. Going 0-14 on the year the team had seven games decided by two goals or less. "During the course of the season we made great improvements in every phase of the game." With a very tough schedule, nagging injuries, and the loss of half the team to graduation or other schools, Coach Roberts was pleased just to have enough players to place on the field. "I am very proud of these guys. They always hustled and made the opponents work for every assist, goal, and win. We're a better team than our record shows." With the hard work the squad has done this spring and the high recruiting class Coach Roberts has coming in, the Trojan kickers should jump to the top of the conference. "We have alot of players returning next season so I look for us to get off to a good start and challenge the rest of the conference for the title."

Seniors lead Lady Trojans to new School Record

The 1992-93 basketball season started off with a lot of question marks for the Lady Trojans, but first year Head Coach Fran Hooks had all the answers. The Trojan girls finished the season with a school best 19-11 overall record and a 8-4 conference record. They won seven of their last eight games to finish second in the conference and went to the conference tournament championship only to lose to Belmont Abbey. "I was very fortunate to step into a new coaching job and have such a great group of players like I had. The girls worked really hard to learn the new system. They would come to practice early and stay after in order to be prepared for every game. Their hard work paid off and I am happy for all of them." Coach Hooks also added that the play of seniors Letica Lewis, Kristi Wiggins, and Valerie Williams was instrumental to the success of the team. "They helped me and the team out greatly. They made adjusting to a new coach easier and helped to develop the freshmen." The leading scorer for the Lady Trojans this season was senior Valerie Williams who averaged 17 points per game. The leading rebounder was sophomore Pam Young who averaged 8.2 rebounds per game. Leading free throw shooter was senior Letica Lewis who shot 80.9% from the charity stripe. The leading field goal shooter was Junior Twana Jeeter who shot 57.4% from the floor. Jeeter also led the district in field goal percentage. The Lady Trojans have a strong nucleus returning and look to build on this year's success. Great job girls.

Trojan Cagers

Make Conference Title Game

For Head Coach Bill Clingan the 1992-93 basketball campaign was a tough one but it finished on a high note. The Trojans finished the season with a winning record going 15-14 on the year. After getting off to a fast start the Trojans hit a mid-season slide that they could not overcome. The Trojans started the season winning ten out of their first twelve games. They won the Pickle Classic beating Savannah College 116-66 and Barton 74-70. After the Pickle Classic the Trojans went on to win their next five games before they ran into a drought. "The guys played hard all year. At the end of the season we just couldn't get any breaks." Although the Trojans finished the season poorly they were able to regroup for the conference tournament. They beat Coker in the first round 51-46 then went on to defeat Barton 75-64 to reach the championship game for the first time in school history. In the championship game they were up against conference powerhouse Pfeiffer. The Trojans hung tough throughout the game but could not pull off the upset. "I was really proud of the guys. They hung tough all year. When things weren't going well, they kept their heads up and kept on playing hard." Coach Clingan gave recognition to the three seniors Eric Bellamy, Barnabus Roundtree, and Kevin Dilday. "These guys were my leaders this year. I always look to my seniors to help get us through the year and this year was no different. When things got rough for us, I turned to these three guys and told them it was up to them to pull us through and they responded getting us into the championship game of the conference tournament." Leading the Trojans in scoring this year was junior Russell Stephens. He averaged 19.9 points per game. For his efforts he was selected to the District 26 All District Team. Leading rebounder was freshman Rumond Pitt who averaged 5.9 boards per game. Senior Barnabus Roundtree lead the team in field goal percentage shooting 58.2% on the year and senior Eric Bellamy lead the team in free throw percentage shooting 80%. "With the guys we have returning I believe we will be very competitive next year."

PLAYBALL !!!

Trojans Continue Winning Ways

Starting off the 1992-93 season Head Coach Carl Lancaster knew that everyone would be gunning for his Trojan team. "We've been King of the Hill for two years now and that's pretty amazing considering how tough this conference is." Coming off a season that produced a team that made it to the World Series, the expectations were high for this year's team. "People thought that just because we went to the World Series last year, we were going back this year. It doesn't work that way. This is an entirely different team. We're younger than we were last year and the guys haven't been playing together as long." The team finished the year second in the conference and earned another trip to the District 26 tournament. The team was lead this year by senior pitchers Dennis Stutts and Bryan Tuten. "Stutts and Tuten were our only returning pitchers off of last year's team. They were called upon a lot this year and they responded well." The team also got a good effort from junior Chris Norris. Assistant Coach Roger May said, "Chris was our clutch hitter. Whenever we needed a big hit, he would come through for us. He was the spark plug for this team." Johnny Jones, a junior also, was the leading hitter on the team. He finished the season hitting right at 400. Coach May also gave recognition to Kennzell McCall for his spectacular play and hustle all season. "We are only losing two players off this year's team so I expect for us to be in the hunt for the conference title again next season." Best of luck in the districts Trojans and keep on winning.

Softball Team's Spirit Soars

This year's Trojan softball team was headed by seniors Joy Ramsey, Kristi Wiggins, Patricia Lewis, and Jennifer Scott. "They were very instrumental in leading this year's team. For a lot of these girls, it was the first time they have ever seen fast pitch. At the beginning of the season, the seniors worked hard with the freshmen to help them to adjust to the new pitching," said first year Coach Charlie Stevens. The season was highlighted by sweeping conference rival Pfeiffer the last two games of the regular season to finish the season strong.

TROJAN NETTERS

The 1992-93 Men's Tennis team showed lots of promise this year. They posted an overall record of 5-7, the best record in Mount Olive College Men's Tennis history. Led by senior Ron Keller, the Trojans went 0-6 in the conference but managed to pull out five non-conference victories. Coach Fran Hooks, in her first year as a head tennis coach, says that she "looks for next year's team to improve tremendously". She says that, although this was her first time coaching tennis, The experience she has gained will be very beneficial in the future.

SHOW PROMISES

The Lady Trojans had a very disappointing season, posting an 0-6 record. First year head coach Fran Hooks said that "Although we failed to win a game, the girls showed a lot of heart out there". "They always came to practice eager and ready to go." "I am looking forward to using the valuable experience that I have gained this season to benefit me and the team in the future."

Showing that Swinging Style

The Mount Olive Golf team finished the season with a 61 and 42 record. They played in eight tournaments this year finishing fourth or higher in five of them. The year was highlighted with a first place finish in the NC Wesleyan Invitational and a second place finish in the Mount Olive College Invitational. "We had a young team this year." Of the six players there were no seniors. The team was made up of two freshmen, one sophomore, and three juniors. "We had a good year. Jeff Allen, Allen Carter, and Allen Smith were the most consistant of the guys. They played every tournament with alot of heart and always gave it their all." Returning all of the team next year the Trojan golfers should have another excellent year. "If the guys continue to work hard this summer we should have a very competitive team next year."

The People Behind The Scenes

The Sports Information Staff is responsible for the players getting the recognition that they do. Before every home game, they are there early setting up and preparing for the game. They are responsible for the statistics of all Trojan sporting events. Long after each game was over, the Sports Information Staff was around computing stats and calling area and national news papers to report the stats. "Being part of the staff took hard work and dedication. We put in alot of hours but we enjoyed every bit of it. It felt good being appreciated and being part of the athletic program," said Chris Kennedy, Director of Sports Information.

Spirited Girls

The cheerleaders lead by captain Robbie Cooke gave spirit and enthusiasm to the basketball teams this year. At every time out the girls always took the court to give the team a boost. During the Pickle Classic the cheerleaders performed a dance routine to the music of "Baby Got Back." Although unnoticed during the game the cheerleaders were the main attraction during time outs and half time. Practice and hard work was put in daily to insure a successful year. Although the squad was young and inexperienced they were quick learners and provided the fans with new routines every game.

Double Take

We must give if we want to receive..

Mount Olive College offered to the community as well as the college family the opportunity to "give the gift of life" twice this year. With the help of the Student Government Association, the goal of fifty pints set for the first drive was nearly met, and the second bloodmobile drive also went well.

Donors were given free pizza for lunch and some were even treated to a steak supper by the college. Even though this was not given as the only reason for volunteering (by some donors), a lot of the participants were seen partaking of the refreshments.

Whatever the reason, students realize that by giving an hour of their time or a pint of blood, they can help save a life. Through their actions, students and faculty show that they care for the community, not only through words, but through the ultimate gift of life.

The Governor visits

Mount Olive College became active in politics through two different visits this year. Governor James B. Hunt decided to "come home" to the college, before the elections and in the spring, for Project EAST 93.

Governor Hunt was joined on the campus by his father, James B. Hunt, Sr., who serves on the MOC Board of Trustees.

Many students were in attendance to hear Governor-elect Hunt speak at a rally before the elections. The presence of the MOC Singers enlightened the affair, and greatly encouraged some students to vote Democratic.

At Project East, the Honorable Governor Hunt spoke to a gathering of students and faculty in the new Lois K. Murphy Regional Center about the Global Transpark. Also present were James G. Martin, former Governor of N.C. and John H. Kerr, III, of the N.C. Senate.

Lights! Camera! Action!

The SGA Executive Cabinet and Class Officers acted up for the weekend as they volunteered their time and service to the N.C. Pickle Festival. The festival was a "dilly" as over 30,000 people attended. SGA members served as cartoon characters (tell us something new), painted faces, issued balls at the dunking booth, helped at the free throw toss, and took photographs of people who desired to dress as a pickle. Miss Olive College 1991, Michelle Cox; Miss Mount Olive College 1992, Wendy Brown; and Miss Mount Olive College 1993, Jenny Nix entertained the crowd on the two stages.

Emily Wood loves pickles so much that she even dresses like Mama Pickle herself!

The Rolls-Royce Philosophy

We will accept nothing that is nearly right.
We will take the best there is and make it better.
If the best doesn't exist, we will invent it.

*Congratulations to the Class of 1993
and to our daughter,
WENDY BROWN*

Build us a daughter, O Lord, who will be strong enough to know when she is weak, and brave enough to face herself when she is afraid; one who will be proud and unbending in honest defeat, and humble and gentle in victory.

Build us a daughter whose wishbone will not be where her backbone should be; a daughter who will know Thee and that to know herself is the foundation of the stone of knowledge.

Lead her, we pray, not in the path of ease and comfort, but under the stress and spur of difficulties and challenge. Here let her learn to stand up in the storm; here let her have compassion for those who fail.

Build us a daughter whose heart will be clean, whose goal will be high; a daughter who will master herself before she seeks to master others; one who will learn to laugh, yet never forget how to weep; one who will reach into the future, yet never forget the past.

And after all these things are her's, add, we pray, enough of a sense of humor, so that she may always be serious, yet never take herself too seriously. Give her humility, so that she may always remember the simplicity of greatness, the open mind of true wisdom, the meekness of true strength.

Then we, as parents, will dare to whisper, "We have not lived in vain."

Lisa Dawn Dawson,

Grandmother appreciates your sincerity in getting an education. As a mother and a grandmother, I see the importance of your concern in getting a college degree. You know this is very important to me. You and your sister, your mother, and myself have degrees in Education. This makes the third generation in education. My concern as your grandmother makes me proud of your accomplishments. You are such a dedicated person in so many ways. Your family, your church and your community families would like to commend you on being the kind of person that you are. We love you and may God always bless you in whatever you attempt to accomplish in your life. Keep up the good spirit that you have always had and life will be full of success and happiness.

Love you, Grandmother

Live your life each day as if you would climb a mountain. An occasional glance towards the summit keeps the goal in mind, but many beautiful scenes are to be observed from each vantage point. Climb slowly, steadily, enjoying each passing moment, and the view from the summit will serve as a fitting exlimax for the journey.

Although we will be separated by many days walking, distance can never weaken our friendship. For what relationship will be that much more intense and beautiful.

"DOUBLE TAKE!" OR IS THAT... DOUBLE VISION?!?!

As I put together the last few pages, I think back over the year and remember all of the memories that I made this year. The Olive Leaves is my record of everything that happened in 1992-93. I present it to you as seen through my eyes. As you flip through the pages, may you smile as you see that special professor, friend or event that holds a fond place in your heart. I remember well when Julie asked if I wanted to be the editor, I responded "Yes, I will do it, but only if you will assist me." I thank my staff who stood by me during the year and especially the last few days before graduation. We spent many hours in the Mac Lab after midnight. Talk about stress and pumping out some spreads at a rapid speed. To Julie, thank you for your guidance and dedication. Without you, "Double Take" would not exist. You have been my SGA and yearbook advisor, but more importantly, you have been my friend. Thanks for the many laughs about popcorn and bananas. To Janet, I appreciate your experience which was invaluable to all of us rookies. To the rest of my staff, I express my gratitude for your commitment. You, like me, learned what putting together a yearbook was all about.
